ROAD DRIVERS UP IN ARMS. SPORTSMEN'S SHOW GETTING POPULAR. THEY HEAR THAT "AUTOS" WANT PARK

ROADS AND SPEEDWAY OPEN TO THEM A Bill to This Effect, It Is Said, Will Be Submitted to Legislature No Race Between Pacers Dariel and Moth Miller Buying American Herses for English Government A startling report to the effect that the automobilists were preparing a bill to submit to the Legislatre, which would open the Park

roads and the Speedway to those machines, was heard yesterday by the road riders

as a joke, while all were set to thinking.
"I have no desire to interfere with the mer said Charles C. Lloyd, "but I cannot under-stand why they are not satisfied with all the roads in the country, which they are free to | The Chesapeake Bay dogs gave interesting use. It looks to me as if they wanted to take our little stretch of a couple of miles away from us. That is just what it would do, for with those machines on the drive there would shot. As soon as it touched the water the be no more sport for the horses, and we might | dogs swam to it, brought it ashore and waited just as well sell our roadsters, so far as road driving is concerned. However, I do not see machines. It was built expressly for speeding horses, and I do not believe the Legislature would consider such a bill. It is preposterous." George coleman stated that he had heard the report from a reliable source and believed that such a movement was under way. If it is the case there will be a merry fight. Every horseman who was seen yesterday said that if the bill was introduced not only the New York Road Drivers' Association, but every horseman in the State would make a fight against it. The well known starting judge, Frank Walker, speaking to several road drivers who were discussing the report said: "Not only should the automobiles be kept out of the Park and Speedway, where they would be a constant menace to life and limb, but the law regulating speed on the streets should be rigidly enforced against the machines, especially at night. They dash along like a streak of lightning. Any vehicle with a horse attached to it, going half as fast, would be instantly stopped. I cannot see why there should be any discrimination."

Horsemen in all parts of the city were

Horsemen in all parts of the city were talking about the movement last night and bitterly condemned it.

Concerning the report that a match had been made between the pacers Dariel and Moth Miller for from $1,000 to $10,000, C. T. Chapin of Rochester, who bought Dariel last month, writes:

I know nothing whatever about a match and did not know that such a report was in circulation until I saw it in one of the Rochester papers. I rade no statement while I was in New York that would lead any one to believe I had such a thing in mind. I did not speak to Dr. Kane relative to such a match with Dariel. In fact, the name of Moth Miller did not once enter into our conversation. I have written to Dr. Kane asking him if he has any idea as to how the report was started: I am very sure a mistake has been made. I first met Dr. Kane while attending the sale of the "300" at Madison Square Garden. He expressed regret at parting with Dariel, and I think her as sweet as a peach. The doctor assured me that she could not be duplicated, and I am now of the same opinion.

that she could not be duplicated, and I am now of the same opinion.

The report that an offer had been made to match Dariel for $10,000 against Moth Miller's $1,000, became current about the Garden on the last day of the sale, but no one seems to know how it originated. The above letter from Mr. Chapin, however, effectually settles the matter.

There seems to be no end to the demand of the English Government for American horses. S.F. Cook of St. Paul, is in Nevada, nilling an order which calls for an expenditures of $500,000. These horses will be picked up all over the West, but more largely in Nevada. They are shipped to St. Louis, flat-hoated down the Mississippi River to New Orleans, and transferred to ocean-going steamers for South Africa. Cook writes that there is always a sale for animals with small, hard hoofs such as are found in the Rocky Mountains.

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN. Gasolene Motors Still Barred by the Ferre Companies.

Notwithstanding that President McRing has signed the amendment to the United States statutes introduced by Senator T C Platt. opening the way for ferries to carry motor machines propelled by gasolene, the ferro companies have not yet rescinded their rule by Emil Hafelfinger of Weehawken, a mem her of the Hudson County Wheelmen, when with his motor bicycle. Thus far no other kind of motor for a bleycle than one run that he had a store of the proscribed for He had to empty his tank before boaring the boat the same as of old. The only explanation he could get was one of red tape.
According to the men at the ferry gate, the company had decided to wait until it receives an official notice of the passage of the emenument to the law and obtained a certified copy of the law before rescinding the order to their employees.

From information gathered yesterday it seems almost positive that "Major" Taylor did sail on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse on last Tuesday. It he did he made a new record by being the first American champion to sail "incog". A few days before the ship left Taylor was in the N. C. A offices in this city and when asked: "What about your ticket?" he replied: "Oh, that's being looked after by a friend, a white man." It is considered as almost certain by the local racing men and officials that Taylor, after his experience in hotels of the South, hall concluded that he could not book in the first cabin if he went himself for his tickets and had taken a sly leave under an assumed name, or possibly his own real name of Marshall Taylor, which would not be apt to be recognized in connection with the negro champion if it was offered in writing. At any rate, a telegram sent to Taylor's home at Worcester, was returned undelivered with the explanation that he had gone to Europe. R. W. Ellingham, Taylor's trainer here, did not go with the champion and the latter will depend on native trainers while in Europe. Taylor did not go abroad seek ing a contract to ride a foreign maker's wheel, but took with him racing bioycles of New England manufacture.
